GENERAL NEWS.

Washington News.

DEBATE ON THE ARMY BILL.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The house went into the committee on the army appropriation bill and the debate commenced on the amendment, prohibiting the use of the army as a political posse at the polls.

Mr. Sparks said this clause had already been added to the appropriation bill and the great republican leaders had assented to it, while only twelve republicans had voted against it. This tame cowardly amendment did not do the subject justice. He would if he could wipe out completely this un-American, republican, non-democratic, villainous statute imbedded in fanaticism and hate. Conger asked where fanaticism and hate were, but Sparks ignored the question.

General Hawley alluded to the evident determination of the democrats not to debate this point and intimated they were afraid of causing the nomination of Grant, or were prohibited by the stentorian tones of witchery of Gramercy Park.

Messrs. Robeson, Keifer, McCord, Haskell, Frye, Conger and Caswell made speeches generally in a tone of raillery at the democrats who remained passive, without a retort. The committee then rose, and the house adjourned.

EXODUS COMMITTEE.

The exodus committee examined W. H. Ford, a cotton factor of Shreveport, who testified that work for the negroes is plenty at $10 to $15 per month. I never saw violence towards the negroes. James Butler, colored, an extensive property owner at Shreveport, said the negroes were never troubled about voting, except in 1872, when they refrained from voting by his advice. A number of Kansas people testified that the exodus was not well regarded in any view of the case.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The democratic senatorial caucus lasted four hours. The discussion on the Kellogg Spofford case was animated.

Senators Lamar, Kernan, Garland and others opposed the consideration, and Saulsbury, Hill, Voorhees and Jones favored it. The argument was advanced that some democrats would oppose seating Spofford and unseating Kellogg.

Senator Hill said nevertheless the committee should do its duty to effect the settlement of the question. The presidential election ought not to figure in the case.

A resolution was adopted by a majority of three providing that the Geneva Award bill shall first be considered and disposed of to be followed by the Kellogg case, unless the caucus decides otherwise. It is understood that the case is not settled until another caucus is held.

Litigation in the Robert E. Lee.

NEW YORK, April 10.—U. S. Commissioner Osborn to day began taking evidence in the suit of Chas. Delmonico against L. D. Roudebush and others which is now pending in the U. S. circuit court of Colorado.

Senator Jones of Nevada was examined at considerable length touching the organization of the Robert E. Lee mine located in Colorado.

Mr. Delmonico, the well-known caterer of this city, who is complainant in the suit, seems to establish his right to one-sixteenth interest in the Robert E. Lee mine which he was promised upon payment of a certain sum of money. He paid the amount as per agreement.

It is set up in the defence that if the original agreement was not carried out, all payments that had been made were to be forfeited, and that the complainant had full knowledge of that fact, and took the risk when he made the investment. The agreement fell through and the company was reorganized upon a different basis.

Mr. Delmonico alleges in his complaint that he is still entitled to one-sixteenth of the receipts in said mine as agreed upon, or the return of his money, which, as he now alleges, was obtained from him by false and fraudulent representations. The testimony of Senator Jones was in regard to his efforts with ex-Senator Chaffee to get possession of the mine and reorganize the company, in which movement he was an important factor.

End of the Great Walking Match

NEW YORK, April 10.—In the O'Leary contest Hart is now certain, barring accident, to beat the record of Blower Brown, and is secure of the special prize of one thousand dollars, given in addition to his share in the gate money. At 8 o'clock this morning the score was: Hart 512, Pegram 499, Dobler 487, Howard 487, Allen 473, Krohne 468, Williams 464, and Hanmaker 384.

At 12 o'clock Hart was 529 miles, Pegram 517, Dobler 500, Howard 503, Allen 490, Krohne 484, Williams 481, and Hanmaker 415.

A special prize of a valuable chain for the pedestrian who makes the most miles to day will probably go to Howard who has 53 miles, Williams who has 48, Pegram and Allen 45 each, Dobler 41, Hart 39. There have been 48 000 admissions. Hart will doubtless receive $9 000 besides the sweepstake of $9,000. The score at 2 o'clock was Hart 535, Pegram 523, Howard 510, Dobler 507, Allen 497, Krhone 493, Williams 190, and Hanamaker 422.

At four o'clock the score in the walking match was Hart 543, Pegram 530, Howard 520, Dobler 515, Allen 506, Krone 501, Williams 497, and Hanamaker 431.

NEW YORK, April 10. At half-past four a pleasing incident occurred. Hanmaker, the baker, was laboring to make 450 miles when Dobler overtook him and cheered with him as they jogged along. He soon brought the pace into a run. Dobler was loudly cheered on the second lap, and Hanmaker was given a basket of flowers and the two carried it one lap.

At five o'clock the band stopped and the pedestrians prepared for a final spurt at 6 o'clock. Hart had made 550 miles, 5¼ miles better than the best record. For a time he then ran around the track carrying the American flag and received thunders of applause. At 6.32 prolonged applause greeted the announcement that Hart had equalled Brown's record of 553 miles in an hour and three quarters less time. He started on a run, bearing a broom wrapped in the stars and stripes. As he ran around, seemingly as fresh as at the start, the applause was deafening and Allen and Dobler waiting on the track, waved their handkerchiefs and congratulated him on the achievement. Dobler then also broke into a run and kept with Hart for a lap amid the wildest demonstrations of enthusiasm.

At 7.15 Hart made an exhibition of a fast walk, which, after three laps, he changed into a run, the crowd drowning the music of the bands with shouts of "Go it, black Dan." Dobler and Howard kept the champion company for a time in this dash. At 8 o'clock Hart appeared clad in blue and white, and as he passed a box four ladies decorated him with a sash.

Spectre Jaybe, who departed from the track two days ago, reappeared in his solemn tights and was hissed and hooted continuously as he moved around.

At 8.11 Hart finished the 560th mile.

At 8.26 Hanmaker completed his 450 mile and will receive about $53 for his labor and pains of the week. Howard, Pegram and Hart linked arms and ran once around the track, and soon afterwards Dobler and Howard together carried a floral gilt which had just been presented to the former with cheers from Chicago to its game representative. The cheers were deafening.

The O'Leary belt was fastened on black Dan and he then made the last lap of the greatest six day race on record, finishing 565 miles and 165 yards at 9.24 o'clock. The total score is as follows: Hart, 565; Dobler, 553; Pegram, 543⅜; Howard, 534½; Allen, 525¼; Williams, 509¾; Krohne, 516, and Hanmaker, 450⅜.

The following table shows the time of rests of each man with the largest rest of each man:

	Rests.	Longest Rest.
Hart	22h 54m	3h 33m 25sec
Dobler	22h 37m	3h 40m 40sec
Allen	34h 25m	3h 25m 15sec
Pegram	31h 31m	2h 55m, 45sec
Hanmaker	26h 58m	2h 32m 25sec
Williams	28h 53m	4h 24m
Krohner	27h 18m	2h 58m
Howard	31h 3m	3h 53m 20 sec

Hart received a challenge to-day from an unknown for the belt.

Failures for 1880.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The failures for the first quarter of the present year, as reported by the mercantile agency of R. G. Dunn & Co., indicate very great decline, not only in number but especially in the amount of liabilities. In the first three months of 1880 there were 1,400 failures, as against 2,500 for the first three months of 1879. The liabilities for the last quarter of 1880 are only twelve million as against forty-three millions in the same period of 1879, and eighty two millions in the first quarter of 1878. The agency draws attention to the fact that these figures indicate a steady continuance of the favorable condition for the trade of the country.

Stock Quotations.

NEW YORK, April 10. Silver bars, 114; money, closed at 3@6; governments, strong; stocks closed weak; Western Union, 106; Quicksilver, 15; Pacific Mail 41⅜; Mariposa, 2½; Wells, Fargo & Co. 106¼; New York Central, 132⅜; Erie, 44¼; Panama, 185; Union Pacific, 89; Bonds 112; Central Pacific, 76½; Bonds 112; Sutro Tunnel, 2; Leadville, 3; Caribou, 2½; Central Arizona, 7; Homestake, 35½; Ontario, 35; Standard, 31⅜; Little Pittsburg, 8.

Michigan Strong for Blaine

DETROIT, April 10.—At the township elections last Monday the Detroit Post and Tribune made arrangements for a canvass for the preference of the republican voters for the presidency by responsible men, whose pronounced preferences were unknown to that paper. The returns from 127 voting precincts scattered through the sixty counties gave the following total: Blaine 21,642; Grant 6,097, Sherman 1,976; Washburne 790, Edmunds 365 and scattering 1,773.

Suit Against General Sheridan.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The suit of James A. Whalen against General Sheridan has been appealed to the United States supreme court by Judge Blatchford's writ. The plaintiff's claim is for $200,000, the value of personal property on the Killona plantation in Louisiana, from which he was ejected.

The Anti-Grant Convention.

ST LOUIS, April 10.—The following are a few names selected from several hundred in the possession of Major Emery S. Fosters, secretary of the anti third term executive committee of gentlemen who expressed hearty sympathy with the anti third term movement, and who have either given assurances on being or are expected to be present at the national convention to be held May 6th:

Gen Joshua H Chamberlain of Maine.

Hon C H Crapo, Hon W W Rice, Hon G G Crocker, Hon G F Hoar, Judge E R Hoar, Hon A C Dawes, Hon W A Field, ex-Governor John D Washburne, Hon Henry L Pierce, Hon Edward L. Pierce, Secretary Atkinson, Thomas Higginson, Chas F Adams, jr., of Massachusetts.

Profs S Dunbar and F J Childs of Harvard university, President Chadburne of Williams college, Prof Woolsey, Prof Sumner, Prof Bacon, Prof Wayland all of Yale college; Hon Jos H Hawley of Connecticut.

Geo W Curtis, W F Day, Horace White, Albert Stickney, Clarence Denny, H S Vandusen, Geo H. Putnam, F W Whitridge, Jas Murray, John F Hume, Ex-Gov Trenton, Ed Solomon, Wm C Bryant, F D Curtis, Rev G H Hall, Rev H G Lord, W H Gratrolck, H S Darrett, Rev Henry W Bellows, of New York.

W R Risker, Wayne McVeagh, J G Rosengarten, H E Lee, E D Lockwood, Jos Lapry, Chas Wheeler, Wharton Baker and John McLaughlin, of Philadelphia.

Hon J D Cox, Judge Stalls, Fred Hassaurek of Ohio.

Hon Bluford Wilson and F Heaker of Illinois.

Hon S N Hurlburt of Detroit, E C Hubbard of Kentucky, and Matthews, Hale of New Hampshire.

Whittaker Outrage.

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 10.—Mr. Whittaker testified he had no conversation with his assailants except to beg them not to cut his ear. His condition was carefully considered by the surgeon. Two barbers testified that a small pair of scissors found in his room could not have cut his hair as now cut. Cadet Geo R. Burnett of the first class was called.

The officer of the day who was the first one who entered Whittaker's room testified as to the condition in which he found Whittaker, weltering in blood pounded and bruised. Whittaker on being shaken had said twice "please don't cut me." It seemed from the witness's testimony that Whittaker was so securely tied that he could hardly have bound himself, although the witness after being lied as Whittaker was did untie himself in the court.

Pacific Coast News.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Weston's walk against time attracts scarcely any attention and is a flat failure as regards the score which at one o'clock this evening was only 234 miles. The walk closed at eleven this evening.

Senator Kane, now in jail at Sacramento, will probably make no effort for his release preferring to wait until the adjournment which will occur on the 16th, when he will be set at liberty.

A Prescott, Arizona, dispatch says all newspapers here, both democratic and republican, denounce in strong terms the charges preferred against Judge Silent and the motives of these preferring them, and assert the California delegation in congress has been misled by Chas. F. Eagan who went to Washington to prefer charges and who is the agent of the Peck mining company which recently lost in Judge Silent's court.

A Mexican Railroad.

NEW YORK, April 10.—A Washington special to the Telegram says Levi Wade, representing the Boston capitalists, yesterday received telegraphic information from the City of Mexico that Diaz had conferred the grant of the charter of the Mexican Central railroad line to the Mexican Central railroad company of Boston. He did this in accordance with the recommendations of the Mexican minister here. Over five million dollars have been subscribed to build the line which is two hundred miles in length and runs north and south from the City of Mexico.

Missionary Item.

NEW YORK, April 10. Among the passengers for Europe to-day in the White Star steamer was Rev. W. F. H. Garrett, chaplain of the British and American colony at Yokohama. He is accompanied by Mr. Yendo, a convert who belongs to the Shizoko or Warrior class. Yendo is going to study in St. Augustine college, Canterbury previous to taking holy orders. A collection of $4,268 was recently taken up at Grace church for foreign missions, a part of which was for Japan. A new church is to be built at Tokio.

Kearney's Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Kearney's case came up in the superior court to-day. Its continuance was asked for the purpose of attacking the record transmitted from the police court and denied. Argument was commenced, consuming the evening, and will be continued on Monday.

Collision of Anchor Line Steamer.

NEW YORK, April 10. The steamship Scandinavian, a freight transportation vessel of the Anchor line bound for Bristol with grain, collided with an unknown vessel in the lower bay this morning, and was seriously injured and brought back to the port.

Three for Blaine and One for Grant.

CHICAGO, April 10. Three Iowa counties to-day appointed Blaine delegates to the state convention and one county appointed Grant delegates.

Code of Honor.

CHICAGO, April 10. The Chicago Times' special from Washington declares that Acklen and King have gone to Louisiana for a duel, but a New Orleans special says the story is undoubtedly false. Acklen is only going there to conduct his congressional campaign.

Death of a Prominent Politician.

DETROIT, April 10.—Hon. Wm. A. Howard, governor of Dakota, died in Washington this morning aged 67. He had been in poor health for some time. He was one of the most prominent citizens of Michigan. For the last quarter of a century he had been a leading republican politician, had served three years in congress, where he held a foremost position. He was a man of large abilities and most pungent debater. He was at the head of the Michigan delegation at Cincinnati, and it was his influence more than any other that wheeled Michigan into line at the critical moment and turned the scale in favor of Hayes. He leaves a wife, two sons and two married daughters. The remains will be brought to this city for interment.

Embezzler Arrested.

CHICAGO, April 10.—W. H. Cecil, the defaulting secretary of the Montreal agency, was arrested here to-day as a fraudulent debtor. He has embezzled $18,000.

FOREIGN.

Horrible Condition of Burmah.

LONDON, April 10, A Burmah correspondent says Mondalay astrologers maintain that in order to remove the evil influence a great propitiary sacrifice is requisite. The victims will be taken from all ranks to the number of four hundred. The priests contribute one hundred and the remainder are men, women and children. Many arrests were made to secure a sufficient number for victims to be selected from. The priests who have hitherto enjoyed immunity from sacrifice, are quitting Mondalay in great numbers.

A Catholic convent was entered to procure victims from among the girls there, but the attempt was frustrated. The internal condition of the country is most unsatisfactory. The people while seeing the folly of King Theobow's acts, feel helpless to effect a change.

The Liberal Victory.

LONDON, April 10.—Up to this time 4,000 constituencies have been heard from, which have returned 338 liberals, 230 conservatives and 52 home rulers.

LONDON, April 10. The enthusiasm is great and Gladstone undoubtedly will be obliged to hold a reception by the liberals.

German Army.

BERLIN, April 10. The reichstag has concluded the second reading of the army bill, having adopted the remainder of the clauses with alteration. Amendments excepting the clergy from military service were rejected. The proposal for a congress to promote a universal disarmament was rejected almost unanimously.

Political Gossip.

LONDON, April 10.—Among the names mentioned for promotion to the peerage are Alexander D. W. R. Baillie Cochran, conservative member of the last house of commons for the Isle of Wight, Sir Lawrence Polk, conservative member for Devon in the last house, and Lord Beaconsfield's secretary.

Vanity Fair states the queen will send for the earl of Granville when Lord Beaconsfield resigns the premiership.

The Saturday Review thinks Beaconsfield will retire before parliament meets, and that the chances seem against Gladstone's acceptance of the office. The speaker thinks Gladstone can't be left out of the new cabinet and he can't occupy any place in it except the first place.

The Economist says there is a growing tendency to regard the liberal success at the parliamentary elections as favorable to business and it appears probable we are on the eve of another outbreak of speculation.

Billiards in Paris.

PARIS, April 10. The Vignaux and Slosson billiard match began this evening. Slosson started with one point, and was followed by Vignaux with two points; next one point, followed by two points, next a break, which resulted in Slosson 32 and Vignaux 4; Slosson 22, followed by a run of 422 by Vignaux, which was hailed with cheers. Vignaux's next largest break was 185; Slosson's two largest breaks were 227 and 292. Vignaux's average was 192, Slosson's 142. Both the champions were loudly applauded. Vignaux made 800 points first, Slosson scoring 624. There was considerable betting. The game lasted two hours and fifty-five minutes, and is to be resumed to-morrow evening.

Mexican News.

BROWNSVILLE, April 10. News reached here yesterday of the death of the wife of President Diaz of Mexico.

The commanding officer at Fort Brown, Texas, has received authority to enlist Mexicans for service along the border.

King of Burmah

RANGOON, April 10. The report of the death of King Theabow of Burmah cannot be traced to authentic source, but indiscriminate human sacrifice has been offered at Mondalay to save his life. Telegraphic communication is interrupted.

Rejoicing over Liberal Success.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 10.—The elections in England have produced a profound impression and at the palace almost a panic. The Greeks, Armenians, Bulgarians and Christians rejoice at Beaconsfield's fall. They assume Gladstone will turn Turkey out of Europe, bag and baggage.

Murder of a French Scientist.

PARIS, April 10. A telegram from Singapore confirms the report of the murder of Wallen by the natives of Sumatra, while on a scientific mission from the French government. The governor of Acheen has gone with troops to recover the body and efforts will be made to punish the murderers.

PICTORIAL DEFINITIONS.

For the great aid rendered by pictures in defining; look at the pictures under the following words in Webster, each illustrating and defining the number of words and terms named:

Beef, page 120,	15	Moldings, p. 851,	10
Boiler, p. 148,	17	Phrenology, p. 982,	37
Castle, p. 203,	24	Ravelin, p. 1080,	14
Column, p. 291,	26	Ships, p. 1164, 1219,	110
Eye, p. 548,	12	Steam Engine,	20
Horse, p. 633,	45	Timbers, p. 1285,	14

Making 343 words and terms defined by the pictures under above 12 words in Webster's Unabridged, far better than could be done by any definition given in words. Is there any better aid than Webster to help a family to become intelligent?

TO REPUBLICANS.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
DENVER, Colorado, April 6, 1880.

The members of the Republican State Central Committee are requested to meet in Denver, at the Grand Central hotel, on Thursday, April 22, 1880, at 10 o'clock a. m. A full attendance is especially desired.

JOHN L. ROUTT, Chairman.
HENRY WARD, Secretary.

Blaine has now about five delegates to the Illinois state convention to one for Grant.

General Grant in a quiet way in the south is doing away with the sectional issue. He says the war is over.

Secretary Sherman is generally hated by the professional officeholders. This ought to clear him of the charge of making a corrupt use of his patronage.

Some congressmen who have not labored for the removal of the duty on paper are likely to have some trouble in obtaining the support of their country papers this fall.

The liberal victory in England effectually ends the career of Beaconsfield, the greatest Jew the world has ever seen. He won renown for his country and his race, and has had glory enough to finish his old age in peace. Denver News.

Some people will differ with the News in regard to its statement that Disraeli is the greatest Jew the world has ever seen. Nearly nineteen centuries ago there was a man born in Bethlehem of Judea, for whom claim has been made as the greatest Jew the world had ever seen. The News can learn something about him in some little histories known as the gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

One of the most remarkable things about the recent bitter political campaign in England is the matter-of-fact manner in which all classes accept the result. It is a good test of the strength of a constitutional monarchy. It is well known that the queen and all the royal influences have been in favor of Disraeli, and still there is no thought of not submitting to the will of the people, though the liberal majority is not very great. It is in sharp contrast with the recent crisis in Germany. Bismarck found that parliament did not sustain him, and resigned. The emperor decided to over-rule parliament and retain Bismarck. In England the resignation would have been accepted, and the will of parliament would have been respected.

The Colorado Springs GAZETTE claims that the Indian tribal relations will be abolished by the proposed treaty. How? Ouray Times.

The land will be owned by the Indians individually and not as a tribe. This will do a great deal to abolish the tribal relations. Again; the administering of the law will be different. At present the legal authority over the Indian is tribal. The chief makes laws and punishes. If the Indians settle in severalty they will come under the United States laws and will be tried and punished for crimes by the U. S. courts. Of course these two things will not sever the ties of kinship, but they take away all the property and authority of the tribes which is all that makes tribal relations strong and dangerous.

ESTIMATES AND PREDICTIONS.

The partisans of the different presidential candidates are making out estimates of the strength that each candidate will have in the coming Chicago convention. The estimates are all extremely sanguine. Grant's adherents credit him with about 450 votes on the first ballot which will be sufficient to nominate him. Blaine's friends count on 359 votes on the first ballot, which will nearly nominate him, and think he can get the other votes on the second ballot, while Secretary Sherman's friends count on his having at least 250 on the first ballot. It is evident that some of these candidates will be much disappointed in their strength, if they really count on as much as they are credited with.

It is, also, quite evident at this time that unless Grant carries Illinois he will not go into the convention with enough delegates to nominate him. Grant is the only candidate that it is claimed will be nominated on the first ballot, and therefore it is especially interesting to examine the sources of his strength. The strength he now has from delegates already elected is 153 votes. This is obtained by counting New York, Pennsylvania and Texas solid for him and a few scattering votes. Texas did not instruct her delegates at all. Should the president of the Chicago convention rule as Edward McPherson did at Cincinnati in 1876, the Blaine delegates from Pennsylvania and New York, numbering 48, will not vote for Grant, but Blaine. It will therefore be seen that the Grant men have no fight to count on 153 delegates already elected.

The same estimate thinks Grant will have 126 of the delegates elected in April. In this estimate was four from Connecticut. Since then Connecticut has elected her delegates and Grant did not get a delegate. It counts on 16 of the 26 delegates from Massachusetts which is a very sanguine estimate. Most of the delegates elected last week to the Massachusetts state convention were styled anti-Grant. It is evident that Grant cannot get the delegates at large and will only get here and there a district delegate. As to the other estimates for April there is little information on which to base an opinion.

In May the Grant men count on 42 votes from Illinois, 23 from Tennessee, 16 from Louisiana, and 25 from Alabama. Present indications are that Illinois will give more than half her delegation to Blaine, while Louisiana, Tennessee and Alabama are certain to share their delegates more liberally with the other candidates.

While it appears from the above that Grant's friends are too sanguine, they are no more so than the friends of the other candidates. It is thought that very favorable estimates will influence doubtful states in selecting delegates, and the different bureaus in Washington seem to be trying a race to this end. The present situation is one of extreme uncertainty and the prospects are that neither Grant, Sherman, or Blaine will get the nomination, for each of the three will have sufficient strength to keep the others from getting the nomination, and they will all prefer the nomination of some one outside of the three. This makes the chances of Edmunds and Washburne very good.

LITERARY NOTES.

Received from the Publishers and Condensed from Exchanges.

Jansen, McClurg & Co. have in press "The Story of Religion in England," by the Rev. Brooke Hereford.

Gebbie & Barrie, Philadelphia, announce the approaching issue, in parts, of an important work, "The Art Treasures of America."

R. Worthington has just ready a new volume by R. A. Proctor, on "Myths and Marvels of Astronomy," which is one of the handsomest books recently made.

Scribner & Welford have just ready three interesting books, "Germany, Past and Present," by that indefatigable and always interesting writer, S. Baring-Gould.

E. C. Stedman will print an article on Edgar Allen Poe in an early number of Scribner. A new portrait of the poet has been prepared for it one never before published.

A. Williams & Co., Boston, are preparing "The Diary of a Bird," translated into human language by H. D. Minot, author of an important work on "Birds of New England."

Roberts Brothers promise new editions of "Richard Edney," by Sylvester Judd, whose "Margaret" is one of the great books in that fiction which is the most effective presentation of truth, and Trench's "Realities of Irish Life," which is both sensational and true.

D. Appleton & Co. have already this week a most entertaining book of California reminiscence, "Recollections and Opinions of an Old Pioneer," by the first governor of that state, Peter H. Burnet, who was there at the time of the discovery of gold, and has since led a life most interesting to look back on.

Messrs. Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, have in press "The Life of Mozart," a translation from the German of Louis Nahl, by J. J. Lalor. "The Story of Aunt Lizzie Akin," by Mrs. Anderson, wife of President Galusha Anderson, Chicago University; and "Demosthenes," a translation from the French of L. Bredif, professor in the faculty of letters of Toulouse, director of the academy, etc.

Messrs. Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co. will have ready in a few days a new and cheaper edition of Fred Barnard's famous "Character Sketches from Charles Dickens," in a handsome portfolio, large quarto size. Also a new book by W. H. Davenport Adams, author of "Dictionary of English Literature," called "Woman's Work and Worth in Girlhood, Maidenhood and Wifehood," with hints on self-culture and chapters on the higher education and employment of women.

Houghton, Osgood & Co.'s spring announcements include several books of positive interest. The book of "American Poems," published last autumn, has been so well received, and adopted in so many places as a reading book for schools, that a companion book of "American Prose" has been prepared, including selections from Hawthorne, Irving, Longfellow, Whittier, Holmes, Lowell, Thoreau and Emerson. It will probably be ready about the middle of April. The Rev. Jos. Cook's last year lectures on "Socialism" will appear before long, forming the eighth volume made up from his unique "lectureship," "The Story of the Jubilee Singers," which has been told before, is now told anew by J. B. T. Marsh, who has used freely the material of previous editions. The book contains the portraits of the singers in a group, and their songs, and is peculiarly interesting.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

Spain has twenty Protestant congregations, with 20,000 hearers.

During the last century the number of members of Christian churches has nearly doubled.

Dr. Craven, of the Methodist Episcopal church, recently dedicated a North Carolina cotton factory with prayer.

Last year twelve persons in the United States and Europe gave an aggregate of $3,000,000 to the cause of foreign missions.

The rumored return of Rev. W. H. H. Murray to Boston is the latest sensation in religious circles, the wonder being to know what he will do when there again.

In giving out the hymn "Come, Holy Ghost, in Love," written by Robert II., King of France, Dr. Hodge, of Princeton, said: "We may well sing Christian hymns composed by Catholics, for the Roman Catholic Church is part of the Church of Christ. This is the doctrine we teach and preach."

Mr. Moody having closed his regular services in St. Louis, it is estimated that, with Mr. Sankey, he has been instrumental in 2400 conversions there. A man who makes statistics his hobby computes that while in St. Louis Mr. Moody's spoken words were 1,256,740, an average of more than 500 for each convert.

The case of Rev. Geo. Barnes, who received a present of $2 50 after conducting a series of meetings which resulted in 285 conversions, reminds the Christian at Work of a man who said he had belonged to the Methodist church forty years and it had never cost him a cent. "God bless your stingy soul, brother," was the response his declaration received.

The bill to tax churches, which has been reported favorably in both branches of the legislature, calls forth the following from the Evangelist: "Inasmuch, then, as the building and maintenance of churches is, of itself, a tax on the benevolence of the people, without the expectation of any pecuniary return, our legislators would do wisely to think twice before enacting such a law. No one would think of taxing the money raised for the sufferers in Ireland or Persia; but the support of the churches is just as truly a matter of benevolence."

Four of the British bishops are widowers—the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London, the bishop of Rochester and the bishop of Bangor. All the rest are married men and most of them with large families. The bishop of London has eleven daughters, the archbishop of York has four sons and five daughters, the bishop of Salisbury has five sons and eight daughters, the bishop of Bath and Wells six sons and four daughters, the bishop of Hereford seven sons and three daughters, the bishop of Oxford three sons and four daughters, the bishop of St. Albans four sons and three daughters, and the bishop of Lincoln two sons and five daughters. The only two bishops who are childless are those of Worcester and Litchfield, and the bishop of Litchfield has not yet forgotten his honeymoon. One, and only one, of the bishops has been twice married—the bishop of Rochester, and he has been a widower for a couple of years.

VINNIE REAM'S MARRIED LIFE.

The Sculptress and the Housekeeper Compared.

Among the many handsome residences erected this year one belonging to Lieutenant Hoxie, district engineer, has attracted much admiration. The house is built at the corner of K and Seventeenth streets, one side overlooking Farragut Square, an open triangle, upon which front many of the fine mansions of resident swell. A rounded tower fills the corner, and, over a lower window, a bronze tablet announces the studio of Vinnie Ream Hoxie, artist. When the bewitching little sculptress married, society wondered whether she would cast away her mallet, and break up her molding sticks, or cling still to her art. It was considered impossible for her to fill the roles of housekeeper and modeler; but she has triumphantly carried one with the other, and merged the two. Her marriage with Lieutenant Hoxie has proved one of the happiest and most harmonious unions, and her last greatest work, the statue of Farragut, has just gone from her hands. On Wednesday afternoons the artist is at home to her callers, and up stairs and down stairs the little lady flies, showing, explaining to and delighting them with the mysteries and trophies of her art. On Sunday evenings Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie are at home for their friends to come and chat around their fireplace and enjoy with them the comforts and beauties of their new house. In her parlors white statues glow in the rosy twilight of her crimson curtains; Sappho, calm and pensive, scroll and stylus in hand, stands in one corner, and the West, an emblematic figure of a young girl, springs forward with the star of empire on her brow, and the golden arrows of the past cast behind her. Two laughing baby heads, in marble, are on the high oak chimney-piece; the hands of Mrs. Fremont and her daughter, one holding a pen, the other a rose, are on the table, and everywhere are scattered like treasures, queer conceits and curios. A sketch of Dore's with a pretty little dedication from him in his autograph, hangs on one side, and a portrait of Mrs. Hoxie, by Healy, smiles from the opposite wall. Queer brasses, bits of alabaster carving from Pisa, inlaid wood from Sorrento, a carved prie-dieu and silver lamps and censers from some dismantled convent, a golden harp that once belonged to an ancient family of France, with chubby cherubs kicking their heels at the top of the elaborate post, all add to the attractiveness of these rooms. In the studio below all sorts of clayey and half-formed images are shrouded in damp cloths. A bust of General Custer attracts the most attention. It was begun the winter before the battle on the Rosebud, and while the artist moulded his features the restless sitter took out his pen-knife and whittled and cut the shoulder straps. That part has not been touched since, and the marks of his knife-blade are as fresh as they were four years ago. Mrs. Custer has been so pleased with the work, so much interested as it grew, that Mrs. Hoxie is about to present it to her. A bronze cast will be made from it for Mrs. Custer and one for the artist.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Gladstone's Electoral Experience.

Mr. Gladstone's electoral experience has been of a very varied kind since nearly half a century ago—in 1832—he entered parliament as a tory from Newark, a small borough where the influence of the Duke of Newcastle was paramount, and sat for that constituency till December, 1845, when, having followed Peel's lead in abandoning protective ideas, he was compelled to retire, though he retained office as colonial secretary for some months thereafter without a seat. At the general election of 1847 he contested Oxford university, the other candidates being Sir Robert Harry Inglis, who had defeated Peel when the great statesman came out for Catholic emancipation, and Mr. G. C. Round, the result of a five days' poll being—Inglis, 1,700; Gladstone, 997; Round, 824. In 1852 Dr. Robert Bullock Marsham, warden of Merton college, was the candidate against Mr. Gladstone, but he was defeated, the sitting members being re-elected after four days' polling, Sir Robert Inglis heading the poll with 1,369 votes, Mr. Gladstone receiving 1,108 and Dr. Marsham, 758. In the followihg year, when Mr. Gladstone entered the cabinet of Lord Aberdeen as chancellor of the exchequer, the conservatives pitted Mr. Dudley Montagu Perceval against him, but the liberal candidate scored another victory by 1,022 to 898, seventy-four of the professors voting for him, while twelve of the remaining twenty-seven remained neutral. This election lasted fifteen days; an act of parliament in 1853 limited the time for polling to five days at most. Again in June, 1859, an unsuccessful attempt was made to unseat Mr. Gladstone, the Marquis of Chandos being beaten in a five days' contest by 1,050 to 860. Two years later Mr. Gladstone took a leading part in passing the act which allowed members of Convocation to vote by means of voting-papers without being personally present at the poll. "It was considered at the time," says a writer reviewing the representation of Oxford University in the house of commons from the days of James I., "to be undesirable that non-resident members of the university should either have to come up from different parts of the country at great trouble and expense or be in effect disfranchised; while it was also notorious that much that was hardly legitimate went on in the way of paying voters their expenses. Every vote was of importance, and consequently curates in remote parts of the country were tempted up to Oxford by the tacit promise that their expenses would be recouped them and that they would be hospitably entertained for a day or two by the leaders of their party. It was to prevent this kind of thing that the act of 1861 was passed, and the first use to which the conservative members of the university put it was to unseat the member by whose instrumentality it had been carried." At the election of 1865 Mr. Gladstone was defeated by Mr. Gathorne Hardy, now Viscount Cranbrook, after a five days' struggle, the numbers being, Sir William Heathcote, 3,236; Hardy, 1,904; Gladstone, 1,724. Of the 3,850 votes cast, 2,080 were given by proxy. On the day of his defeat, Mr. Gladstone was nominated for South Lancashire, and the next day he was addressing to the voters at Manchester his famous "At last, my friends, I am come among you unmuzzled." "I have loved the University of Oxford," he said, in another passage of this speech, "with a deep and passionate love, and, as long as I breathe, that attachment will continue. Could they have returned me by a majority of one, painful as it is to a man of my time of life, and feeling the weight of public cares, to be incessantly struggling for his seat, nothing could have induced me to quit that university to which I had so long ago devoted my best care and attachment." "The candidate without an address" obtained his seat, Mr. Edgerton, a conservative, heading the poll with 9,171, another conservative, Mr. Turner, being second, with 8,806, and Mr. Gladstone coming within twenty votes of him, being 310 votes ahead of the third Conservative and running 1,073 in advance of the second Liberal. At the general election of 1868, despite his vehement plea that he might "be permitted and enabled to speak the words of truth and justice in the house of commons in the name and with the authority of the men of southwest Lancashire," the leader of the opposition was defeated by 360 votes. Anticipating this result, the liberals of Greenwhich had nominated Mr. Gladstone with Mr. Alderman—afterwards Sir David Salomons, and elected him by some 1,700 votes. In 1874 the Premier was again returned, but with a conservative colleague, Mr. Boord, who received 6,193 votes, Mr. Gladstone having 5,958, the second conservative 5,561, and the second liberal 5,255. Last week Mr. Gladstone was elected for Leeds, so that if he should be defeated in Edinburghshire he will not lack a seat when the new parliament assembles.

Varied as Mr. Gladstone's experience has been, he has not yet changed seats so often as did Lord John Russell, who sat in succession for Tavistock, Huntingdonshire, Bandon, Devonshire, Stroud and London. Four constituencies it has been noted have especially distinguished themselves in modern days by returning first lords of the treasury, actual or prospective. Oxford University can lay claim to Peel and Gladstone, though she chose and rejected each of these statesmen ere he had attained to the premiership. Cambridge was faithful to Pitt to the last, though she rejected Palmerston. Buckinghamshire gave the country Lord Grenville and Lord Beaconsfield, and the little burrough of Rye elected in 1790 Mr. Jenkinsen, afterwards Lord Liverpool, who was premier from 1812 to 1827, and in 1806 Sir Arthur Wellesley, afterwards Duke of Wellington. Lord Aberdeen was the only prime minister of the present century who was without practical experience of the house of commons, having succeeded to his father's title at the age of eighteen. He won his way into parliament as a representative peer at the age of twenty-two. N. Y. World.

Story about Grant.

McVicker tells a good story about Grant. On the Monday following the general's arrival McVicker's theatre was beautifully decorated in honor of Grant's visit to the opera. The private box of the manager was set apart for the distinguished guest, and connected therewith was a smoking-room, where, between the acts, the general enjoyed his favorite cigar. The opera was Max Maretzek's new production of "Sleepy Hollow," and as it was the initial performance all concerned were particularly anxious for its success. When the opera was partly over, and while Grant was puffing away in the smoking-room waiting for the rise of the curtain, McVicker thought he would get an expression of opinion from his guest regarding the merits of the production. "He seems to talk easy enough," said Mac to himself; "I'll see what he thinks of the piece any way." So in his quiet way he sauntered up to Grant and said, "general, how do you like the opera?" Grant slowly took the cigar from his mouth and blew away a cloud of smoke. "Well," he replied slowly, "if that fellow gets the girl and the $2,000, it is all right." "I was satisfied," said McVicker, "that the general had kept the run of the story, but I am not quite sure what he thought of the opera."

Mrs. Fleming, the Novelist.

Mrs. May Agnes Fleming, the author of a number of popular novels, died last week. Mrs. Fleming was a plain, quiet woman, slight in figure and delicate in health, with a husband who made her life wretched, and from whom she was always hiding. She worked hard for the money that he claimed as his right, but of which, I am glad to say, she saved enough to keep her children in comfort. Mrs. Fleming's novels were not of the highest order of literary merit; indeed, they come under the descriptive list of sensational fiction; but they were never coarse or immoral. Though she had never crossed the ocean, nearly all her scenes were laid in England. I think this was as much because she wanted lords and ladies to figure through her pages as anything else. She liked to write of castles, rather than houses, and the wealth of her heroines was fabulous, and their beauty and accomplishmets undescribable. Her own home on the outskirts of Brooklyn, was as plain as a home could be. There was no library; in fact, nothing indicated the house of a woman who made her money by writing books. Her bedroom was her study, and she generally, after the manner of school girls, wrote on her lap, an old atlas serving as desk. She never wrote in the afternoons, her health would not permit it, but only in the morning. Mrs. Fleming began writing at the age of fifteen, when, of course, she was very poorly paid for her work. During the last years of her life she wrote one novel a year, for which she was paid $5,000. Carleton afterwards published it in book form, and she received 15 per cent, as her copy right. Few novelists have done better, and few husbanded their means with greater success, for although she spent money freely, she left $50,000 to her children.

How to Intimidate.

An Irishman of Montana was working a placer mine a few miles from Bear Gulch and visited that place one day to get his tools sharpened. Just as he was about to start back someone told him that if he would go home by way of Sour Krout Gulch he would not miss his way, and would save several miles of walking. Pat started out, but after traveling several miles the sun was almost down and he had seen nothing that looked familiar. At last he made up his mind that he was lost, and, to use his own words, feared he "would be robbed and murthered entirely all alone." While he was in this state of mind he spied a cinnamon bear on the side of the mountain and was almost ready to fall to the ground with fright. Recovering his self-possession a little he said: "I thought it wouldn't do to let the bear think I was afraid of him and concluded I might intimidate him by making him think that there several of me. So, walking a little faster, I called out as loud as iver I could, "Mike! Oi say, Mike, hould on till I catch up wid ye and the rest o' the b'ys." When the bear heard that he walked away and said not a word."

"Select List"

Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Select List of Local Newspapers.

Many persons suppose this list to be composed of CHEAP, low-priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST. When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the foot of the catalogue for each state the important towns which are not covered by the lists are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

An old advertiser writes: "I prefer the LOCAL LIST for the reason that, while but few persons in any particular town subscribe for a class medium (or large city weekly) nine out of ten subscribe for their local paper, and the tenth one borrows it from his neighbor."

An advertiser, who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this list, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single states ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $650. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3,083.16. The list includes 977 newspapers, of which 193 are issued DAILY, and 784 WEEKLY. They are located in 807 different cities and towns, of which 28 are state capitals; 371 places of over 5,000 population, and 255 county seats.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO. conduct an agency for the reception of advertisements for American newspapers. The most complete establishment of the kind in the world.

Eight thousand newspapers are kept regularly on file, open to the inspection of customers.

Every advertisement is taken at the home price of the paper, without any additional charge or commission.

An advertiser in dealing with the agency, is saved trouble and correspondence, making one contract instead of a dozen, a hundred or a thousand.

A book of 120 pages, containing lists of best papers, largest circulations, religious, agricultural, class, political, daily and country papers, and all publications which are especially valuable to advertisers, with some information about prices, is sent to any address on receipt of ten cents.

Persons at a distance wishing to make contracts for advertising in any town, city, county, state or territory of the United States, or any portion of the Dominion of Canada, may send a concise statement of what they want, together with a copy of the ADVERTISEMENT they desire inserted, and will receive, by return mail, an estimate of the cost.

For such information and estimate there is no charge.

Orders are taken for a single paper as well as for a list; for a single dollar as readily as for a larger sum.

Geo. P. Rowell & Co. also publish the American Newspaper Directory (price $5), in which will be found a complete list of all American newspapers, and a Gazetteer of the towns in which they are issued.

VILLAGE NEWSPAPERS.

A list of nearly twelve hundred county and village newspapers, having an aggregate weekly edition of 692,891 ACTUAL COPIES ISSUED.

Advertisements, large or small, can be inserted in the entire list for $6 a line per week, and reading notices for $12 a line. A card occupying one inch of space is inserted one week for $75; or one year for $2,000.

We learn from Mr. Stubbs that sheep are looking extremely well, and have wintered with scarcely any loss.

There was a sensation among the boys yesterday over a practical joke which was practiced upon one of their number.

Dr. A. Wellington Adams has fitted up a very cozy office in the vacant space which existed between Thornburgh's and Hull's blocks.

The game of base ball between the College boys and the High School nine resulted in the defeat of the latter by a score of 33 to 61.

The engineering corps that went west some three weeks ago, is at present working in Ute Pass about one and a-half miles above the falls.

We are informed that the bridge on the cemetery road is in bad order and we know that some of the crossings on Pike's Peak avenue and Huerfano street need attention.

The young people's prayer meeting will take place at the Y. M. C. A. room to-day at 4.30 p. m. At the Y. M. C. A. noon meeting Monday the topic will be, "Christian Intelligence."

We are in receipt of a marriage notice which was handed in by one boy to another boy in our office without any explanatory note. We cannot insert notices without some understanding as to whom they come from.

We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of Mr. Chas. Stearns, the tailor. He certainly displays a very fine line of new spring goods on his counters and is prepared to compete with any one in Colorado on prices.

Mr. E. E. Draper, the very efficient bookkeper in the GAZETTE office, has accepted a position in the auditor's office of the D. & R. G. Ry. The position thus made vacant in the GAZETTE office has been filled by his brother, Mr. A. G. Draper.

In yesterday's GAZETTE Dr. S. Davis was credited with being manager of the Philharmonic society. This was a mistake which arose from the illegibility of a note handed to us. Dr. Davis does not claim to be manager, but is the president of the Philharmonic society.

Dr. E. M. Morrison, a prominent dentist of Des Moines, Iowa, made us a pleasant call last evening. Dr. Morrison has consented to take charge of Dr. F. H. Sutherland's business, during the absence of the latter gentleman, and can be found in his office on South Tejon street.

As will be seen by the notice of the county treasurer in this morning's GAZETTE, those who are compelled to receive El Paso county warrants because of a lack of funds in the treasury, can have them cashed at par by presenting them at the First National bank of this city.

Sanders & Aux have just added to their livery stock two very handsome buggies manufactured by Seabrook & South, a well-known eastern firm. Both buggies have Brewster springs, one being made on the piano box pattern and the other on the Whitechapple. They are of exceedingly easy draft and are fine specimens of workmanship.

A blind young man was put off of the train here last Friday because he lacked money to pay his fare any farther. He collected enough money on the streets yesterday to pay half fare to Denver, and Commissioner Matt France secured him a ticket upon the special rates allowed the county under such circumstances. The young man is trying to reach Longmont, where he has friends.

M. J. H. Woodgate has just returned from a trip to southern Colorado in the interest of the internal revenue department. He has seized and will sell on the 16th of this month machinery, stills, etc., of Taylor & Co.'s. distillery at Taylorville, on the Arkanasas, for failing to comply with the assessment rules. The revenue year expires with this month and all licenses and stamps will have to be renewed upon the first of May.

Owing to an unforseen delay in repairing some of the flumes in the irrigating ditch the advent of the water into town will be somewhat retarded. The ditch has been enlarged to double its former capacity, but as the embankments are newly made in places and still soft only half a head of water will be turned on at first. We are glad to see that the ditches in the city have been in a great measure cleaned out. A few, however, are yet in need of attention, and we hope that they will be cleared to-morrow as the water will soon be running.

RUSHING INTO THE GUNNISON.

Hundreds of Prospectors Camped in the Snow.

From a regular correspondent of the GAZETTE.

RUBY CAMP, April 1.—From what we see and hear we have reason to believe the wild rush for "Pike's Peak" in '59 is likely to be repeated this spring with Gunnison county as the objective point. Hundreds already have come over the range and are camped about the town of Gunnison, waiting the melting of the snow that they may get into the mountains. Some rich and valuable discoveries were made in the several mining camps of this country last summer and fall, and it is probable many valuable lodes of silver and gold bearing ores will be found this year; but we who have been here for a year or more cannot see prospects of success for a tenth part of the thousands who are preparing to come and are already on the roads. Many, we doubt not, are intending to push further west into the Indian reservation, and have bright visions of the mineral wealth which they will find there. It is to be hoped they will be rewarded, but it is a country very little known. It is believed portions of it may be rich in minerals, but it is not known that they are. The few who have been through it disagree in regard to its probable mineral wealth, some thinking it the most inviting field remaining to the prospector; others saying they could find little indications of either gold or silver. As before said, however, it is a region almost unknown.

It is now evident that the reservation will be overrun with prospectors as soon as the snow will permit. Some who have claims here are not satisfied, or will not be until they have looked further west, and are arranging to be off early, to be in among the first, and it is probable that hundreds, and perhaps thousands, who are now coming over the range for the first time, finding all croppings of lodes in this and other camps claimed, will strike west at once. In my last I mentioned a party as having gone down Anthracite creek prospecting. They have returned. They say they went about sixty miles west before turning back. Everywhere they found the snow about the same as here, six to eight feet deep. In the streams they found some placer gold, and they say some gold-bearing quartz, but with the ground everywhere covered with snow, nothing could be done towards prospecting for lodes. They will go again when the snow is gone.

This, not only probable, but certain, overrunning of the reservation before the Indians are gone, even if the signed treaty should be carried out, may lead to trouble. Among so many who will go on the reservation, where they must necessarily meet with Indians, there may be expected some who will consider them game for their rifles, or that their safety depends on killing all they may see.

Every day brings back some of our last summer people who went out for the winter. In going down to Irwin to-day I noticed several holes in the snow where the work of development was being resumed, and the reports of blasts are more frequent than at any time since the first heavy snowfall.

To those contemplating coming here for the purpose of prospecting I can but repeat what I have said before. The last of May or the first of June is as early as bare ground can be expected. Some days the sun softens and settles the snow, but for six weeks to come we can expect no rain, and until rain takes the place of snow the snow goes off slowly as every storm leaves an addition.

Real estate in the town of Gunnison has been advancing rapidly for a month or two past; lots are now held at from $50 to $800. Great calculations are made on the growth of this supposed future metropolis of Western Colorado. A weekly paper to be known as the Gunnison News will make its appearance in a few days. It is to be independent in politics. E. C.

Largest Book Published.

The new edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, just issued, is blieved to be, in the quantity of matter it contains, by far the largest volume published. It now contains about 118,000 words defined, and nearly 15,000 words and meanigs not found in any other one dictionary. The Biographical dictionary, just added, supplies a want long felt by the reader and student, in giving the desired information so briefly. Never was any one volume so complete as an aid in getting an education.

The following was received in town a few days since, and we publish it by request for the information of the stock holders in the Colorado Springs and Cottonwood toll road.

LEADVILLE, March 27, 1880.

D. RUSS WOOD, ESQ., Dear sir: I am informed that a company has been formed at Buena Vista which has taken possession of the Cottonwood road, put a force of men to work to open it and Mr. — tells me they intend to hold the property if they have to stand suit. Part of the above I knew before coming up, but I wanted Mr. — s opinion before writing you.

Yours &c.,

H. A. TRUE.

We notice that our merchants generally are painting and improving their places of business. Painters were at work yesterday on Mr. S. Sessler's grocery, and Messrs. Monk & Ingalsbe have put in a new water way in front of their dry goods establishment.

"A FOOL'S ERRAND."

Some Interesting Facts About its Author.

The author of "A Fool's Errand," that popular political novel, which is at the same time a graphic history of life in the south during the so-called reconstruction epoch, is now, as doubtless most of our readers are aware, the clever and accomplished editor of the Denver Times. A large number of copies of his remarkable and very popular book have been sold in this city and much curiosity has been excited as to the name of its author and concerning his antecedents. A reporter of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle has had an interesting interview with President Andrews, of the Rochester university, which we take pleasure in reprinting, as the information is new and comes from a trustworthy authority. The reporters account of his interview is as follows: "The ambassador found Dr. Anderson in the library at his residence on the corner of University avenue and Prince street, and when the object of the visit was made known, at once expressed his willingness to impart what he knew about the most popular "fool" of the day. 'Let me see,' remarked the doctor, referring to a university catalogue, 'I suppose you know the name of the author is Albion Winegar Tourgee. He was in the class of '62, and as I remember him now, he was one of the brightest men we had in the college. He displayed marked literary ability then, a promise which has been abundantly fulfilled by his mature manhood."

"I observe by the catalogue that he served in the army, and indeed that fact is apparent from 'A Fool's Errand.'"

"Yes, I know it is the story of his personal experience in the south, his attempt to make a home in North Carolina. He was of an intensely patriotic nature and I think went from Rochester with the 140th regiment, or else with General Slocum from Syracuse. I know that he was wounded severely at the first battle of Bull Run, an injury that secured his discharge from the army. Upon recovering, however, he enlisted again, this time in the 105th Ohio volunteers, and the latter part of the war he served on the staff of General Thomas. When the rebellion first broke out I remember passing down Buffalo street and finding him with a number of other young men drilling in the basement of one of the buildings, and after a war meeting in one of the churches, he wrote a very clever ode, addressed, I believe to my wife."

"Have you known much of him personally since he left Rochester?"

"Yes, we have corresponded at intervals for a number of years. The last time I saw him was in New York, the middle of last January. He was very busy then writing another novel founded on the exodus of the negro, which I presume will be published some time this summer. I have entertained him at my house several times. He is an exceedingly entertaining speaker. He was well liked in the south personally, but it was on account of his republican sentiments that he was persecuted. Himself and family were tabooed from society, and he was warned repeatedly to leave the country. One night while sitting in his house, he heard the approach of men on horseback, and at once realizing the object of their visit, he extinguished the lights, barricaded the doors and prepared for a fight. He had a repeating rifle, and as the ku-klux rode into the yard he fired repeatedly, wounding two or two or three and causing so much consternation that they turned and rode away, leaving part of their disguises on the ground. When he felt sure that they had gone, he turned up the lamps and by their light saw his wife standing white and motionless by his side, clenching a revolver in each hand. She understood well enough what the attack meant. Her hair then was a dark brown; when she awoke in the morning it was gray. It was a thrilling story as I heard him relate it at the dining table."

"What kind of a looking man is he?"

"He is a quiet, unpretentious man, about medium height, dark eyes and hair, and weighing perhaps 130 or 140 pounds."

"Where is he now?"

"I do not exactly know where he is now but his wife and children are in Denver, and I should not be surprised if he made that city his permanent home."

This concluded the interview, and thanking the doctor for the information the reporter withdrew. Those who have read the book will readily recognize President Anderson as the Rev. Enos Martin of the story, although it is very probable that the correspondence as published is materially changed from the original.

Mr. Tourgee is also the author of "Toinette," "The Merry-Go-Round," and "Figs and Thistles," all of which will doubtless gain a new popularity from the success of "A Fool's Errand."

We have received a poem entitled, "Musings upon the Psychological and Physiological Effects of a Windy April Day in Colorado Springs. We are obliged to decline the poem in spite of the fact that the first stanza is as follows:

"The wind blew,
The dust flew,

The wind fiend laughs
When 'ere he sees

A part of the mail from Denver yesterday morning was carried south and did not reach the hands of those for whom it was intended until last evening.

News From Crested Butte.

We make the following extracts from a letter received in this city yesterday from ten Mr. Clayton K. Smith, an assayer who left Colorado Springs for the Gunnison about a month ago. The letter is dated Crested Butte, April 5. Mr. Smith writes: "The snow is only four and a half feet deep on the level. It has been snowing only three days. At present it has stopped for about an hour to give us time to go to the restaurant for a few beans and bacon. We have very little to eat in the camp. Provisions in camp has from eight to ten feet of snow on it. The silver hunter would better stay at home for one month yet, to say the least. It will be three or four weeks before teams will be able to get a team here. People have come under the impression that when they arrive at Gunnison City their fortunes are made. We are short of hotels and restaurants mines for the tenderfeet to see."

Mr. C. H. Fenn, the well known Gunnison ranchman, who has just returned to this city in conversation with us yesterday spoke in some very kind words of the GAZETTE. He informed us that it was very popular in the country and read with the great enjoyment. Our increasing subscription list, we are glad to say, confirms Mr. Fenn's words.

Twenty-five pieces of New Ingrain Carpets at Giddings & Stillman's.

A FACT.

When I advertise 25 per cent. cheaper than any other house in the city, etc., I mean just what I say, and will forfeit one thousand dollars if any person can prove that I ever gave a price that I did not carry out to the letter. I do not advertise that all my goods were marked my special order when they were not.
